Schultzberg On School Consolidation

School Superintendent George Schultzberg is establishing a reputation as an authority on school consolidation. A short time ago he gave an illustrated lecture on the subject, and again he spoke to the school trustees of Santa Clara county.

About ten days ago there came to Schultzberg a letter from Will S. Wood, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, complimenting him upon the syllabus he has prepared on the subject of consolidation, and asking him to write a bulletin on the subject, for distribution throughout the State. Dr. Margaret McNaught and Mr. Woods will write an introduction to the document.

"Service," a patriotic pageant to be given at Stanford University on Flag Day, Saturday, June 14, will be characterized by over 400 students. The affair will be a feature of homecoming week at Stanford. Garnet Holme, who is to produce Carmel's July plays, will coach the pageant.

Among San Jose folks visiting here during the week are Mr. and Mrs. S. Darling, who have been receiving their friends at their cottage here.

Carmelo Precinct officials for the State Road Bonds election on July 1 have been appointed, as follows: Inspector, Paul C. Prince; judge, John L. Williams; clerks, Mrs. Bernice O. Warren and Miss Saidee Van Brower. The polling place will be at the Carmel City Hall.

Contractor M. J. Murphy has about completed the splendid cement tennis court on the Criley grounds at the Highlands. Who'll be the champion player of this section?

Harry Leon Wilson and family will again spend the summer and fall a long way from home. They leave shortly for Kennebunkport, Maine, where they were last year in company with Booth Tarkington, the Indiana novelist.

Harris Comings and his little family are off on an outing in the Carmel Valley and beyond. Harris says, "we'll keep going until the gas gives out, and coast home if we have to."

Carmel will have at least twenty new voters as the result of County Clerk T. P. Joy's visit here last Friday. He placed that number of names on the Great Register.

Work above ground is now proceeding on the D. L. James residence at the Highlands. The rock foundation was completed last week. Mr. and Mrs. James will arrive shortly from Kansas City to watch the pile grow.

Attorney Silas W. Mack and his three sons are planning to spend the months of July and August in Canada. Mr. Mack was born a Canuck, but nevertheless is of good old Pilgrim stock.

Rev. G. M. Dorwart will officiate at All Saints the first three Sundays in June. He preaches a good sermon, sings in a strong sweet voice, and reads the lesson with dramatic force.

You are protected by a $10,000 accident bond when you travel in Carmel Garage Stages. We are responsible.

Messrs. Cronyan, Brooks, Heron and Hilliard started on a motor trip down the Coast last Tuesday. They will be home today or tomorrow.

PLANTS PURIFIERS OF AIR

Their Consumption of Carbonic Acid Gas, Always Going On, Is of Great Benefit.

Plants do not breathe or have any action corresponding to the breathing of animals. Oxygen is essential to the sustaining of life in animals, including human beings, and in breathing air they consume or appropriate the oxygen it contains and give out carbonic acid gas, which is poisonous. Plants do not consume oxygen, but they consume carbonic acid, thus helping to purify the atmosphere, which is to some extent rendered impure by the breathing of animals. They do not generate oxygen, but they release it by consuming the carbonic acid. Tyndall, a celebrated scientist, says: "Consider all the fires in the world and all the animals in the world continually pouring their carbonic acid into the atmosphere. Would it not be fair to conclude that our air must become more and more contaminated and unfit to support either combustion or life? This seems inevitable, but it would be a conclusion founded upon half knowledge, and therefore wrong. A provision exists for continually purifying the atmosphere of its excess of carbonic acid. By the leaves of plants this gas is absorbed, and within the leaves it is decomposed by the solar rays. The carbon is stored up in the tree, while the pure oxygen is restored to the atmosphere. Carbonic acid, in fact, is to a great extent the nutriment of plants, and inasmuch as animals in the long run, derive their food from the vegetable world, this very gas, which at first sight might be regarded as a deadly constituent of the atmosphere, is the main sustainer, both of vegetable and animal life."

FINEST WEATHER IN TROPICS

Climate So Delightful That the Average Person Would Soon Tire of the Monotony.

The days were wonderful, and the alternations of sun and wind were as exciting as the discovery of the strange Malayan beasts and birds. The sun rose softly—no breeze moved cloud or leaf, and even the light came at first moderately, indirectly, reflected from the higher peaks, or heliographed from the mirror of a half-hidden, distant waterfall. In early afternoon—one never knew just when—the faintest of breezes sifted down and blurred the lacery of tree-fern shadows. The wind was cool and soon strengthened, and by night the air was surging violently through the gap, siphoned from the cold summits down to the hot, humid valleys. Day after day one reawakened to the sense of tropical surroundings from a conviction of a northern autumn, with the wind full of swirling leaves and the fronds soughing with the same sad cadence as the needles of scented pines of the northland.—William Beebe, in The Atlantic.

Are You a Dangler?

A dangler is one who dangles, that is one who awaits the decisions of other people instead of choosing his own course and making circumstances conform to it. The dangler may be found any day in the open market, complaining because nobody hires him, or her, as the case may be. Our most celebrated and successful laborers asked no odds of anybody. They simply went to work, somewhere, anywhere that offered opportunity, and then they helped to build up the community that supported them and so became in time "grand old men," who to undiscerning minds seemed to have been wonderfully favored by fortune. They did not dangle, but became the strong supports upon which folk of a weaker sort leaned, and not in vain, that virtue would come out of them.

"SOME" AS AN ADJECTIVE

Popular American Slang Has Attached a Wealth of Meaning to the Word.

The American habit of coining new meanings for words already known is closely allied to that of coining words, writes C. Jefferson Weber in the North American Review. Take, for example, the current slang use of that much used word "some." What a wealth of meaning and insinuation the American has invented for the word!

"Some" as an adverb may be heard in many places. For instance, in the Teign valley district of Devon, the natives may say, "It did rain zum yesterday." But the American would use the word as an adjective and say, "That was some rain yesterday." This use is hard to define. In the middle of the last century "some," meaning considerable, or notable, was called "a modern slang word." Today "some" is almost limitless in its capacity for application. It implies approval, enthusiasm, sarcasm, wonder, admiration, disgust—or amusement.

The seeds may have been sown in Cornwall, in Devon or in Lancashire, but I seriously doubt if a native of any of these counties would ever say enthusiastically, "We had some fun last night," or sarcastically, "This is some book!" Another word to which Americans have given a new meaning is the verb "raise." In England, men raise crops; in America, they also raise children.

Commendation

INTERNATIONAL COMMITTEE Y. M. C. A., 347 Madison Ave., New York., May 2, 1919.

Mr. William T. Kibbler,

Dear Sir: When Mr. Perry Newberry of Carmel by-the-Sea went overseas eight months ago, he gave you as one of his references. I am glad to pass on to you the following cordial estimate of his work that has reached us from our Paris offices:

"Mr. Newberry served as Hut Secretary with the 77th Division for months and went through terrible hardships with them at the front. Reports of his activities are highly commendatory. He has endeared himself to the regiment by his unceasing devotion to duty, and as a result, request has come that he be allowed to return to the States with his unit. We are enclosing letters which will indicate to you Mr. Newberry's unselfish attitude and loyalty in helping us to put across our program.

(Signed) E. B. Pratt
Personnel Department"

"Mr. Newberry joined this organization (304th F. A.) in the middle of September and has been with us ever since.

"I have heard that there is some possibility of the Y. M. C. A. men attached to various regiments being detached from the regiments when they leave for the United States. It would be a great loss to this regiment if anything like this should happen to Mr. Newberry. He is so much a part of this regiment and has done so much for this regiment that if would be a personal loss to every officer and man if he should leave us.

"I request that he be left with the regiment and in the event of our leaving for the United States that he be sent home with us,

(Signed) Copley Enos
Colonel 304th F. A."

You will, I am sure, as a friend of his, be glad to know of the fine work that he has been doing. We hope that you will pass on this information to his other friends so that they may realize our cordial appreciation of the service he has rendered.

Yours very sincerely,
Edward S. Parsons.

WEEKLY GREETING

All government, indeed every human benefit and enjoyment, every virtue, and every prudent act, is founded on compromise and barter.—Edmund Burke.

News items and other people's sayings published in this paper are printed only for their news value. They do not always reflect the editor's opinions.

How Divided

A correct statement of the financial terms for the proposed improvement of Ocean Avenue, which is to be submitted to the people in the form of a bond issue, is as follows:

Of the total cost of the work, seventy-five per cent is to be paid directly by the owners of property on Ocean Avenue, and twenty-five per cent by the owners of all other lots within the boundaries of the municipality.

IT IS NOT ALWAYS EASY

To apologize,
To begin over,
To take advice,
To be unselfish,
To admit error,
To be charitable,
To be considerate,
To keep on trying,
To endure success,
To vote for bonds,
To profit by mistakes,
To forgive and forget,
To keep out of the rut,
To think and then act,
To shoulder a deserved blame,
——but it ALWAYS PAYS!

AMERICAN ARTISTS

In proportion as other states adopt an idea that seems invitingly open to adoption, American artists will have reason to thank the Indiana originator of The Friends of American Art. The new society, open to all residents of Indiana, is formed to encourage and practice the buying of works of art by American artists, each member pledging to give a certain sum each year for that purpose. Times have changed, to be sure, since American artists needed organized help to find an appreciative public, and the fact that a present-day painter or sculptor is also a European counts for little when his work is compared with that of a contemporary American of equal ability. But such an organization increases the interest in art among its own members, tends also to grow in membership, and also, in the long run, to add materially to the total sale of pictures, which is the most helpful way imaginable of encouraging artists.

WE'RE OLD-FASHIONED

The simplified spelling board gives notice that it has a new list of thirty reformed words to announce soon, says the Springfield Republican. The National Education Association's list of twelve words has been adopted by 500 newspapers and periodicals, nineteen state universities and more than 150 other universities, colleges and normal schools. The twelve are: Tho, altho, thru, throughout, thoroly, thorofare, program, prolog, catalog, pedagog and decalog. The "ue" is fast disappearing, but the "ough" dies hard.

Boxing in Monterey

With the return of the soldiers and sailors to civil life there has come throughout the country a revival of interest in the boxing sport. Athletic clubs of both men and boys are everywhere being formed to promote a knowledge of this healthy manly pastime.

Three months ago Mr. Ralph Evans, matchmaker of the Monterey Athletic Club, started the sport anew in this section, and has since given two very successful exhibitions.

An attractive card has been announced for the third monthly show to be given at the Monterey Theatre this evening. Six clever four round bouts are assured.

If you read it in the Pine Cone you may safely repeat it.
